Game over at Shoreline house, seven arrested on betting charges

BY DENA BISNETTE

Seven men have been arrested and charged with illegal gambling in a Tuesday night raid on a Shoreline Park residence.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, the seven included Glenn E. Bills, 44, of P.O. Box 713, Bay St. Louis; Richard Evans, 44, of Omaha, Neb.; Ben E. Hobbs, 35, of 799 West North Street, Pass Christian; Melvin Mitchell, 44, of 1911 Nicholson Ave., Waveland; Earl R. Stephens, 52, of Gulfport; Jones L. Porter, 87, of Gulfport; and Gerald Ray Hayden, 55, of 525 E. Second St., Pass Christian.

Seay said all seven were released on $500 bond each.

Illegal gambling is a misdemeanor charge and the case will be turned over to Hancock County Justice Court.

According to Seay, the seven were gambling at a residence owned by Bills and located on Red Street off Tigris Street in Shoreline Park.

He said Bills also gave a Picayune address but is believed to have been living in the Red Street house at least part-time.

Paraphernalia seized included dice, chips, cards, several gaming tables, an undetermined amount of cash that Seay approximated at "several hundred dollars," and records of bets that indicated that betting had been taking place at the residence since at least January.

The records indicated that bets had been placed on horses races, football and basketball games, other sports and political races, Seay stated.

"They appeared to be running booking there and we also believe bets were being taken over the telephone," Seay stated.

He said the gambling was taking place on Sunday and Tuesday nights "into the wee hours of the morning" and involved "five to 10 people at various times."

The investigator added that the house had been under surveillance for several weeks following a telephone tip to the sheriff's department and that a search warrant had been obtained prior to the raid.

He also stated that all seven of the arrested men "acted surprised but were very cooperative."

Those assisting in the investigation included Mississippi Highway Patrol Investigators Randy Sibley and Clinton Newman, Sheriff's Department Investigators Glen Strong and Nathan Edna, Deputy Matt McCall and Auxiliary Deputy Peter Marchetti.

Three-month study on services being conducted for USM-Coast

BY DENA BISNETTE

University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Park is conducting a four-month survey of the Mississippi Gulf Coast to determine whether the school's coastal facilities are meeting local needs.

Three USM officials recently announced plans for the survey, which is expected to include business and industry, high school and community college students, employers, employees, military personnel, governmental leaders and a sampling of the general public in the six counties served by the USM-Gulf Coast campuses, USM Vice-President of Research and Extended Services Karen Yarbrough.

The Gulf Coast campuses include USM-Gulf Park in Long Beach and centers at the Jeff Davis Junior College in Jackson County and Keesler Air Force base in Biloxi. In addition, some courses are available at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County.

The six counties include Hancock, Pearl River, Harrison, Stone,

Jackson and George counties, which have been served by the school's coast facilities since 1972.

USM President Aubrey Lucas, USM-Gulf Coast Dean Joe Holloway and Yarbrough explained the program at a recent conference.

MGT of America, Inc., a consulting firm based in Tallahassee, Fla., that has recently completed a study on the university's main campus in Hattiesburg, has been hired to do the survey at a cost of $38,000, Lucas said.

"The question we want to answer is, are we doing everything we can or should do to meet higher education needs on the Gulf Coast," Lucas stated.

"We think it goes without question that economic development and relevant higher education go hand-in-hand."

More than 30 undergraduate and graduate programs are offered on the coast, with community colleges providing all the freshman and sophomore courses for undergraduates and USM providing all the junior, senior and graduate level work.

Lucas said he feels the course offerings are adequate at present but wants to find out more about future needs.

County action expected Friday on old hospital purchase offer

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is expected to consider the sale of the old Hancock General Hospital building Friday.

The board has been negotiating with regard to a Louisiana firm's $350,000 purchase offer for the building, vacant since the hospital moved into new quarters at Hancock Medical Center in February.

At the April 4 board meeting, the board members agreed to discuss the matter further in one of its Thursday work sessions and act on it Friday if all details are worked out.

The firm making the offer, Gulf South Medical Enterprises of Mandeville, is being represented by Barbara Stewart of Commercial Realty Associates in Jackson.

Stewart has told the board that Gulf South wants to renovate the building for a skilled nursing facility.

If the firm can not obtain a certificate of need, any other possible use would have to be approved by the board of supervisors.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Dowdy supports new federal budget

WASHINGTON — Congressman Wayne Dowdy, who is running for the United States Senate seat being vacated by Senator John Stennis, praised the new budget resolution recently approved by Congress.

"This budget is a realistic answer to our nation's needs," Dowdy said from his congressional office in Washington. "It reduces overall federal spending, while putting a high priority on the needs of our senior citizens, our veterans and our educational system."

"I voted for the new budget because it answers the concerns that many of us in Congress have been raising for a long time," Dowdy said. "Unlike previous budgets submitted by the Administration, the new plan we approved includes a full cost-of-living raise for social security recipients, federal retirees and military retirees."

Dowdy noted that in the past, retired persons were denied their cost-of-living raises because of the Gramm-Rudman budget cuts supported by the Administration. Dowdy voted against the Gramm-Rudman cuts.

Mississippi will also benefit from the provisions of the new budget increasing funding for education,

Dowdy said. "Our budget plan strengthens education for elementary and secondary students as well as for our young people through college," he proclaimed.

Dowdy said that the education increases were a victory for those in Congress who have been fighting against drastic cuts in education since 1981.

"There is no better investment in our future than quality education for our children," he emphasized that we will be able to invest more in improving education in the new budget plan," Dowdy said.

OPENING SATURDAY — Stu Rayburn, manager of the Wave Pool at Buccaneer State Park, checks an emergency control on a lifeguard's chair. The control stops the wave action in the pool when a rescue must be made. Rayburn said the 450,000 gallon, 17,000 square-foot pool, the first built in Mississippi and the only one of its kind on the Gulf Coast, will open Saturday for weekends only, 11 a.m. to 6:45 p.m. Fees are $4 for children ages three to 12 and $5.50 for ages 13 and up. Twilight rates begin after 4:45 p.m. and are $2.50 for children and $3.25 for adults. Group rates are also available for 35 or more people and the pool has rafts for rent. The pool starts its weekday hours May 23 and more information can be obtained by calling the wave pool at 467-2580 or the park office at 467-3822. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette) be formal and no presentations are scheduled.

Instead, students will be able to talk one-on-one with the career representatives and to ask them questions about their work, education, special training and other topics.

Rhodes said parents are also being invited because some of them may wish to find out about unfamiliar fields in which their children have shown interest or about the type of education their children might need for specific jobs.

The principal added that the idea for the program is related to a school event successfully conducted earlier this year, College Night.

At College Night, students met with representatives of various schools in a format similar to the one being used for the career fair.

Some of the things learned during College Night are being applied to the career fair.

For example, students did not wish to talk with recruiters for military services but instead expressed interest in talking with the servicepeople themselves.

The people representing the various branches of military service at the career fair will be servicepeople employed in several different fields.

Dean said door prizes, including several $50 savings bonds, have been donated to add a little more fun for students attending the event.

"We want to make the whole event really appealing to kids," she explained.

Rhodes said he is looking for a good turn-out for career night.

He said that even students who have already decided upon their careers may be interested in meeting local business people.

"This is something we can be proud of," the principal said. "We know our students need it and it will also be good for the community."

For more information, call Rhodes at 467-6611 during school hours.

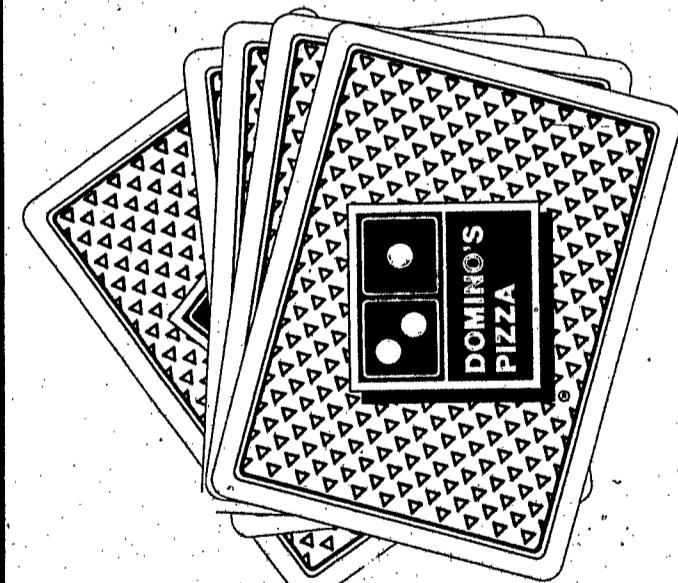

Oge stated that the event is basically aimed at high school students, but may also prove useful to junior high students who are just beginning to develop career interests and to parents who want more information with regard to their own career plans.

The deadline for income tax returns is Friday, April 15, and we know there are many of you who have waited until the last minute.

I am glad I was able to get my state and federal returns off last week.

We hope everyone will make the deadline or at least file for an extension which we think many folks will do this year.

On Saturday members of the Theodore S. Price Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Unit 3253 will be collecting for the Mississippi Burn Center.

Mrs. Ursula Favre, whom I have known more years than I would like to reveal, is chairman of the VFW fund raising.

The VFW Auxiliary members will be collecting at Hwy. 90 and Main Street in Bay St. Louis from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Mrs. Favre said.

As many of you know, the Mississippi Burn Center has been in a financial crunch in recent years, and there has been talk of possibly closing this very much needed facility.

If you can help, we know the VFW Auxiliary will really appreciate your assistance.

In recent conversations with local firefighters, we have been told there has been a rash of dwelling fires in recent weeks.

We know there seems to be a dwelling fire every few days and we can remember going months sometimes without a serious fire.

This may be a good time for residents to check or have their homes checked for potential fire hazards.

We are hoping all residents will be extremely careful if they are burning trash and obtain proper permits if needed.

Winds in recent days have made it extremely hard for firefighters to quell wildfires.

A good time seemed to have been had by all of those folks who attended the Bay St. Louis Merchants Association's Cajun Nite Concert Saturday.

One thing we liked about the event was the fact there were so many families in attendance and we saw many friends we hadn't seen in quiet a while.

We will be looking forward to the next event.

In Congress

By Congressman Trent Lott

ON THE JOB ON THE BALL

By Congressman Trent Lott
The United States Navy is on its way back and Mississippi is helping get it there.

Ingalls Shipyard in Pascagoula, a division of Litton Industries, builds some of the fastest, most powerful and most technologically advanced ships in the world. And it does so under budget. I don't have to tell you how important that is these days.

Contract after contract is awarded to Ingalls, not because it does work others don't, but because the management and workers at Ingalls are committed to delivering quality workmanship at a price we can afford.

But Ingalls does more than just build ships. It helps design them, too. Just last week, the Navy announced that Ingalls will perform planning yard services for the DB-963 and DDG-993 class ships.

And when Navy ships need repair work or updating, it's often Ingalls that's called on to do the job. Out of all the shipyards across the country, the Navy chose our workers at Ingalls to patch-up the USS Stark, the frigate damaged last May in the Persian Gulf.

So what does all this work mean? If my father were still alive he would tell you it means jobs. He used to work there. Ingalls employs more than 10,000 people every year. And while employment figures sometimes dip below that level, the long-term future is extremely bright. By 1991, Ingalls could employ upwards of 14,000 people. That's good news for all of us.

Our national defense is important. It creates thousands of jobs in Mississippi, it allows us to negotiate with world powers, but most importantly, it protects us from those who would challenge our freedoms.

The Shipyard at Ingalls reminds us of that, everyday.

News from the Capitol City

By Ellen Fentress

Funding already-approved teacher pay raises and attempts to preserve the county unit bill took House attention. Meanwhile, the Senate debated sex education as the 1988 session of the Mississippi Legislature moved toward its final weeks.

Also last week, the House called for Southern District Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner to resign from office ahead of schedule, following his guilty plea last week to federal charges of extortion and tax evasion.

The House also approved pay raises for the House speaker and lieutenant governor last week, at a lower rate than passed the Senate.

In the Senate, lawmakers voted to give Attorney General Mike Moore more power to prosecute white collar crime by approving a measure that had already passed the House.

The House vote on county unit government follows Senate approval of county unit last month. However, county unit supporters were less than enthusiastic about the legislation that emerged from the Senate, which allowed supervisors to maintain roads on a beat basis.

The House bill calls for a countywide road construction and maintenance system instead of each supervisor's operating his beat separately. Under the Senate bill, road maintenance could remain on a beat-by-beat basis and no countywide personnel system would be required.

However, before the House passed its measure on a 111-11 vote, representatives voted to require a referendum on switching to county unit government in each county. That amendment passed on a 68-54 vote.

Gov. Ray Mabus has made mandatory county unit government a top item in his legislative agenda in his first year in office. Under the county unit system, government operations are handled centrally instead of allowing each supervisor to operate his beat.

Support for county government reform has grown with a federal probe of Mississippi supervisors that has brought the arrest of 52 county officeholders for corrupt buying practices.

HB 508, Part 2 of Amendment 1. The Senate voted 29-21 to require written, parental consent before public school students are taught reproductive health. - Taylor, no; Tate, yes.

SB 2431. Substitute 1 for Amendment 1. The House voted 68-54 to require a countywide referendum on the Nov. 8 ballot before instituting county unit government in each of the 82 counties. Compratta, yes.

SB 2431. The House passed its county unit bill 111-11, after inserting the referendum requirement. Compratta, yes.

HB 508. The Senate voted 36-15 on final passage to reenact a state school nurse program. The program now operates in 21 school districts in grades 7-9. The program includes health instruction including nutrition, hygiene, drug and alcohol abuse and sex education. Taylor, yes; Tate, yes.

Also last week, preliminary work continued in the House to fund teacher pay raises, an expenditure endorsed by the House and Senate.

The House Appropriations Committee approved on a 16-12 vote freeing $25 million by refinancing long-term state highway debt.

The Senate has approved the bill, which will help fund the $200 million in extra spending for education in the state that Mabus has requested, using the $25 million for education instead of highways brought opposition from some supporters of a $1.6 billion highway construction program passed by the Legislature last year.

But others argued that lawmakers who voted for the teacher pay raises a few weeks ago are obligated to support legislation that would fund the proposal.

The big debate last week in the Senate was over sex education, part of a school nurse program that the Senate reenacted on a 36-15 vote. But before extending the health education program, senators agreed on a voice vote to segregate students by sex for sex education instruction.

In a 29-21 vote, senators voted to require written parental consent for students to receive sex education instruction. Opponents of that amendment argued that the students most in need of instruction were from poor families who were the least likely to respond to a written consent form.

While the House voted for Joiner to resign from office immediately after his guilty plea last week, the Senate Rules Committee voted to delay action on the resolution. House

Couple pleased with childbirth experience at Hancock Medical Center

April 4, 1988

To the Editor:

We would like to report that during a recent hospital stay, the entire staff of the OB department of Hancock Medical Center performed with the warmest, friendliest, but yet ever so professional attitude and workmanship.

There was a sense of 'teamwork' among doctors, nurses and aides which gave us the feeling we were receiving the best care available. Having a baby is a wonderful experience in itself. However, the labor beforehand and the recovery and care afterwards 'makes' or 'breaks' that experience. We must commend the department for making our experience a truly wonderful one! Thanks Gang!

Dear Sir:

I would like to call to your attention Brother Canisius from St. Stanislaus for his Project Do program.

Throughout the school year he organized several groups of SSC students to visit our center on a weekly basis.

Community involvement could solve litter problems

To the Editor:

I am happy to see and hear of the efforts being made in Hancock County to conquer the litter problems.

If state, county and city officials and legislators support the litter problem, in time the problem might be solved.

Picking up litter is expensive and wasteful when litterers are allowed to continue their trashing.

The answer is enforcement, example and education.

With enforcement, cities, towns and neighborhoods could be the beneficiaries of wealth.

How much better it would be to spend the money to plant flowers or improve streets rather than picking up trash.

The residents of Garden Isles want to keep their neighborhood clean and beautiful.

Some illegal dumping has been occurring in our area on back streets. With the help of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors it has been cleaned up and we wish to keep it that way.

With help from them as well as the sheriff's office, we intend to break

A special pick-up-clean-up day is scheduled in Garden Isles for Saturday, Apr. 23.

Mike Ladner has promised to send a truck into the area to pick up trash at designated spots.

We wish to thank the Sea Coast Echo and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for their help.

I would like to challenge every community and neighborhood to have their own cleanup.

Let each home and business police the area around them, including the street and highway right-of-way—all areas between streets and sidewalks.

Litter is everything from cigarette butts on the street to illegal signs on utility poles, ill-kept dumpsters and abandoned cars.

Litter is a blight on our communities. Let's clean it up and set an example to the county and state. Let Mississippi's beauty shine through.

Sincerely yours,

Ann Whidón

Reader appreciates newspaper's approach to news coverage

To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Thank you for a paper that is a newspaper, not one that starts from start and goes on to finish recounting all the murder, arson, mayhem and rape and goes on and on to every bad thing that has happened here, there and everywhere, not only in our country here, but everywhere else in the country; and all over the world.

The People's Business

From Mississippi Economic Council

Helping Mississippi reach its full potential

One of the planned events scheduled for the 39th Annual Membership Meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council is the 1988-89 organizational meeting of the five councils composed of MEC members who have volunteered for special service.

In order to identify and respond to problems more rapidly, five councils have been created which are broad in scope and flexible enough to address issues that are of interest and importance to business.

Members of MEC are called upon to volunteer for service on one of five councils on business, education, government, free enterprise, and legislation.

Members are asked to carry out specific assignments under the direction of MEC's Board of Directors. As a problem arises, they will be asked to help in a search for the most favorable solution that will benefit the state.

Why do these Mississippians take time off from their businesses, farms, factories, and schools? Why do they actively participate in the work of the councils?

These are Mississippians who join at the same time!

The 'home folks' I know talk about your different approach to life, and pray that in growing bigger, you'll continue on the same level you have been using. Let those who have a taste for such, have it.

Chairmen of these councils were appointed by MEC Chairman-elect W.E. McClure of Columbus. Chairing the Council on Business is J. Dexter Barr, Jr., president of Trustmark Bank in Hattiesburg.

Among the areas being examined are the possibility of offering more courses at NSTL, USM-Gulf Coast's relationship with the Hattiesburg campus and local community colleges, the organization and functions of the board of trustees, policies, research, relationship to business and industry and legislation.

A particular area of interest is the perceptions of high school seniors and community college students, because they are the students who will be attending USM in the future.

Holloway said coast area chambers of commerce and the Gulf Coast economic council will also be involved in the project.

Yarbrough said the study will involve written surveys, face-to-face interviews and telephone calls and asks for public cooperation.

QUILTING SEMINAR—Members of Gulf States Quilting Association preparing for the group's fifth annual educational seminar Friday through Sunday at USM's Gulf Park Campus in Long Beach are, from left, Sharon Ross, Wanda Howard, Marion Maerke, Kay Elmore, Karl Erickson and Wynona Bradford. The event will include technique and basic quilting classes by nationally recognized teachers, as well as lectures, special events, fashion shows and 'show and tell' demonstrations of finished products. A merchants' mall featuring sales of latest fabrics, patterns, books and supplies will be open to the public from 7:30 to 9 a.m., noon to 2 p.m. and 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. each day. ETV Briefs

During the week of Apr. 10 through Apr. 16, which is the 1988 "Week of the Young Child," Mississippi ETV will present special episodes of children's favorites that highlight the child care experience.

The Public Broadcasting Service (PBS), of which Mississippi ETV is a member, will talk to the nation's children about what being a "cared for child" means. Captain Kangaroo, Susan and Gordon from "Sesame Street" and Mister Rogers are just part of the PBS family who will talk about child care and prepare children and their parents for the day care experience.

"Captain Kangaroo" can be seen at 4:30 p.m., "Sesame Street" at 7 a.m. and 3 p.m., and "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" at 4 p.m. every week day.

Mississippi's Attorney General, Mike Moore, will be serving as honorary chairman for the Child Care America campaign in Mississippi.

★★★★★ ETV Brief

SPECIAL GUEST - MARS

Every week night on Mississippi ETV, right after "Job Bank," a 10-minute little series features the most star-studded cast imaginable: the nighttime sky. And headlining the billboard for the next six months will be the planet Mars.

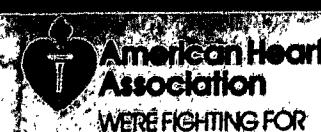

Each five-minute program in the "Star Hustler" series features celestial objects and events visible for the current week and tells viewers how to find them in the sky outside their own front doors. "Star Hustler" can be seen at approximately 11:10 p.m. every week night on Mississippi ETV.

Between roughly July and September, Mars will come closer to Earth and be brighter than it has been since 1971, particularly on the evening of September 21. Outshining even Jupiter, Mars will not be this bright or as close again until the year 2003. It will be so bright, it will be easily seen even from the depths of the most brilliantly lighted cities in the world.

To help "Star Hustler" viewers—as well as all sky viewers—a special "star wheel/Mars tracker" is available for $1 (for postage and handling). The Mars tracker is designed so that star watchers may keep a personal record of Mars' exact position and distance from the Earth. The star wheel helps in identifying the various constellations.

In order to obtain a star wheel and a Mars tracker, interested persons should send $1 to: Star Wheels/Mars Tracker, P.O. Box 2, Miami, FL 33281.

Ochsner researchers exploring AIDS drug

NEW ORLEANS—Researchers at the Ochsner Medical Institutions in New Orleans have found what they hope is a drug that suppresses the reproduction of the AIDS virus.

The drug is called Amphotericin B—an FDA approved drug that is currently used in treating fungus infections. In lab tests, the drug was found to protect lymphocytes from the AIDS virus in tissue cultures.

In a limited clinical trial involving four patients with AIDS, preliminary results showed the drug reduced human immunodeficiency virus, or HIV antigen levels, in the blood of patients by 30 to 80 percent.

Om Prakash, PhD, researcher at Ochsner, says those numbers are "encouraging" but warns that the drug is still in an experimental stage.

"If these preliminary studies are confirmed and if we can control the reproduction of the virus, we just may be able to help AIDS patients maintain immunity against opportunistic diseases," says Prakash.

Further clinical studies, he says, are in progress at Ochsner and one other center to confirm and extend the preliminary observations.

"This is not a cure for AIDS. We don't want to create an unfulfillable level of expectation in the AIDS population. Future studies will try to find out what the drug offers in terms of clinical improvements in an AIDS patient," he says.

Amphotericin B appears to suppress the reproduction of the virus by binding to cholesterol in the virus membrane or in the virus-infected cells. It is one of many drugs currently being studied at Ochsner in a structured search for anti-viral drugs.

KATY MC GUIRE CAIRE

As a cook who likes to cook and as a cooking columnist of years' standing, I enjoy pouring over new cookbooks as they come across my desk for review, and also devouring food articles by other writers.

But, when I start in to whip up a meal or whatever, when not improvising as I go, I find myself turning again and again to the special "tried and true and tasty" cookery books—including, of course my own, "Cooking Up a Storm."

So, it was with mouth-watering joy and anticipation that I reread two or three times the other day, "Jesse's Book of Creole and Deep South Recipes" by Edith and John Watts, now in its second printing and available at area bookstores (Weathervane Books, N.Y., distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc.)

Then I started in—really "cooking up a storm" for this is one of the most delightful and "cookable" collection of recipes on bookshelves—and dear to my heart as well.

For, you see, I'm one of the fortunate ones who has enjoyed Jesse's cooking at the Ballard family dinner table in Bay St. Louis, and have "cooked up" according to his dictum for some years.

The Jesse in question—Jesse Willis Lewis of the Bay—came to the Ballard family as a boy of 15, and for 40 years until he retired, served as "chief cook and bottle washer" for the Marshall Ballards and their five children, one of whom, Edith Ballard Watts, is co-author of this book.

And, during these years, even after the children had grown up, Jesse continued from time to time to exercise his talents in their separate kitchens.

Watching Jesse cook and writing down his recipes and special tips and techniques as he did it—that's the way Edith and her husband, John Watts, wrote this book; a book that's invaluable to any cook, novice or skilled.

I learned many special added touches from Jesse. Among my favorites is:

BAKED HAM WITH WINE SAUCE

(The secret ingredient in this dish is apple butter—not apple sauce.)

1 lb. pre-cooked ham (family size)
Cloves
1 lb. apple butter (NOT, I repeat, applesauce)
½ lb. raisins

1 can clear consomme

1½ cups sherry
Boil the ham until it is three-quarters done—about 20 minutes to the pound, and save one quart of the water in which it was boiled. Remove the skin and score the fat, then decorate with cloves. Mix the other ingredients together with the reserved quart of water and place in a roasting pan with the ham.

Bake in a 350 degree oven until it is done and nicely browned—about 1½ hours—basting with the sauce while cooking. And, this sauce is not only delicious for serving with the hot ham, but thickens on cooling and can be stored indefinitely in the refrigerator and served cold as a relish with fowl or almost any kind of roast meat.

As Edith points out, "Jesse never bakes a ham without boiling it first. He insists that this method keeps it from drying out and from being too salty." (I always follow that rule of Jesse's, also.)

There are many other delicious recipes—and excellent tips for making a good dish into a great one with a deft touch here, a special added ingredient there—too many to tell you about in this one column!

With a newspaper editor (the New Orleans Item) for their father and a doctor for their mother and interesting guests coming and going, the Ballard offspring and their friends enjoyed the "tops" in food and conversation at table, the "stuff" of which memories are made."

I count myself fortunate to have shared in those times and those memories!

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Project No. 4-21-83

Scaled bids will be received by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi until 9:00 A.M., May 2, 1983, and shortly thereafter publicly opened for:

-REPLACEMENT OF 24" PIPE CULVERTS WITH 24" PEYTON CULVERTS AND CONCRETE ARCH PIPES.

Plans and Specifications are on file in the offices of the Hancock County Chancery Clerk and Lawrence L. Seal County Engineer, 113 Telly Road Picayune, Mississippi. Plans and Proposals may be secured upon payment of $25.00, which is non-refundable.

Certificate of check or bond for five percent (5%) of total bid payable to Hancock County must accompany each proposal.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Certificates of bid bond will be returned immediately to the bidder who submits them. Bidders are hereby notified that any proposal accompanied by letters qualifying in any manner the condition under which the proposal is tendered will be considered an irregular bid and such proposals will not be considered in making the award.

A performance bond, or equal in the full amount of the Contract will be required of the successful bidder. In lieu of a performance bond the successful bidder may post with the full Board of Supervisors, the full amount of the bid, in cash or its equivalent, conditioned for the prompt and faithful performance of the contract; said cash or its equivalent to be held until the successful completion of the project.

Attention is called to the fact that contracts exceeding $50,000 require contractors to be licensed under applicable laws of the State of Mississippi and have a certificate of responsibility.

Published by order of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi dated this the 4th day of April, 1983.

Rocks take district diamond wins over d'Iberville, HNC

The St. Stanislaus Rockachaws Baseball Team jumped back on its winning track over the past week by defeating d'Iberville 4-3 in 11 innings, and taking a 7-0 decision over Hancock North Central last Tuesday at Rockachaw diamond.

The winning pitcher for both contests was Cedric Smith who was spectacular in the Rockachaws' 4-3 victory over d'Iberville a week ago Thursday.

The contest was tied 2-2 at the end of seven innings.

The Rocks pushed across a run in the top of the 10th as Greg Schruff led off with his third single of the game and advanced to second when Smith hit a ground ball that was misplayed by the shortstop.

William Scarborough's perfect sacrifice bunt allowed the runners to advance, and Schruff scored when Scott Heitzmann put a shot through the hole at shortstop.

D'Iberville came back in the top of the tenth to tie it up as Chad Hebert was safe on a throwing error and advanced to third on Luke Swanzy's single.

Corey Diaz' sacrifice bunt scored Hebert and the Warriors had the winning run on third with only one out. Smith got the next two batters to ground out to Heitzmann and Marc Matherne to get out of the jam.

This seemed to fuel the Rocks' determination to win, as Joe Lee got things started with two outs in the top of the 11th when he was hit by a pitch.

Schruff delivered his fourth single of the contest, followed by Smith's third hit of the game which scored Lee. This proved to be the margin of victory, as Smith retired the batters in order in the bottom of the 11th.

The Rocks came back Tuesday afternoon to defeat the visiting Hancock North Central Hawks 7-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Smith. Only two HNC batters reached first on errors.

SSC and HNC will play another district contest Friday when HNC hosts St. Stanislaus.

"We have been doing a good job hitting the ball. We collected 10 hits against East Central, 13 against d'Iberville, and 11 against Hancock."

"I think the Hawks are a very good ballclub which is going to explode against somebody real soon," said Gemelli.

"Coach Favre and Pernicaro have done an excellent job with a young team."

"As far as we're concerned, we have to control our own destiny. How do you explain beating d'Iberville after playing flat and losing to East Central? Baseball is a funny game," Gemelli noted.

Rockin' the coast hosting area teams today after finishing 3, 2, 1 in opening meets

The St. Stanislaus High School Track Teams opened its 1988 season with a third place finish in the recent Brothers of the Sacred Heart Relays at Catholic High School in Baton Rouge, La.

The competition was very stiff with Catholic High placing first followed by Brother Martin High School, St. Stanislaus and E.D. White High School of Thibodaux, La.

Mike Casano was the top competitor for the Rockchaws by placing first in the 400 meter dash.

The Rockchaws then traveled to Covington, La., for the St. Paul invitational where 9 teams competed with Pope John Paul winning with 126 points and St. Stanislaus moving up to a close second with 120 points.

The Rocks had a number of good showings in that event.

First place finishers were Casano in the 440-yd and 100-dy. dashes, Craig Sweeney in the javelin, and the mile relay team composed of Sweeney, Bart Brooks, Fred Wirstrom and Casano.

In a Mar. 30 D'Iberville Invitational the Rockchaws won D'Iberville with 49, St. Martin with 33, East Central with 22 and Mercy Cross with 15.

In the field events, Casano took second place in the pole vault and Joe Gex also took second place in the triple jump.

But the Rocks did not begin to shine until the running events where they won 8 out of 10.

The Rocks started the night with freshmen Brian Brooks winning the 2-mile run and he came back later to win the 1-mile run.

Casano won the 440-yd. dash, Sweeney won the 880-yd. run and Shannon Garrett won the 220-yd. dash.

The Rocks also swept the relays. The 440-yd. relay team was composed of Gino Ascani, Jorge Ponjuan, Andre Rollins and Garrett.

The 880-yd. relay team was composed of Ascani Ponjuan, Casano and Garrett.

The mile relay team was composed of Sweeney, Ascani, Wirstrom and Casano.

The only two events the Rocks didn't win, the 120 yd. high hurdles and the 100-yd. dash, were both third place finishes.

Coach Larry Ramsey believes there are a number of reasons for the Rocks early success.

"For one, the kids this year are willing to put in the hard work to perfect the talent they have. Also, they know they have the potential this year to have a good year so they are willing to give that little extra in practice to become better."

"The seniors this year are providing leadership and are coming through. Also, the attitude around school this year has been great, the kids have had a taste of winning and they like it and want to continue it," the coach continued.

"We have been consistent in the running events but need to improve in our field events. Casano has been a good performer this year. He leads the team in points scored and is undefeated in the 440-yd. dash. He also runs the 100, 880-yd. relay, Mile relay and pole vaults," Ramsey noted.

"Shannon Garrett is the anchor leg on both sprint relays as well as runs the 100 and 220-yd. dashes. Brian Brooks has had success in the 2-mile and 1-mile runs."

The Rocks today will host Long Beach, Bay High, Hancock North Central and Pope John Paul.

Junior High boys will also compete and high school girls will compete in running events only.

The St. Stanislaus Junior High Rockchaws opened their season on a successful note Mar. 30 at the D'Iberville Invitational with a second place showing.

St. Martin won the meet with 63 points followed by St. Stanislaus with 50, Pass Christian and D'Iberville with 34 each, East Central with 33 and Mercy Cross with 5.

Second place finishes went to both the 880-yd. relay team composed of Vince Altese, Paul Johnson, Tory Lowe and Chris Reisch and the 440-yd. relay team of Tate Thrifley, Paul Johnson, Vince Altese and Tory Lowe.

The mile relay team of Thrifley, Johnson, Lowe and Altese took first place.

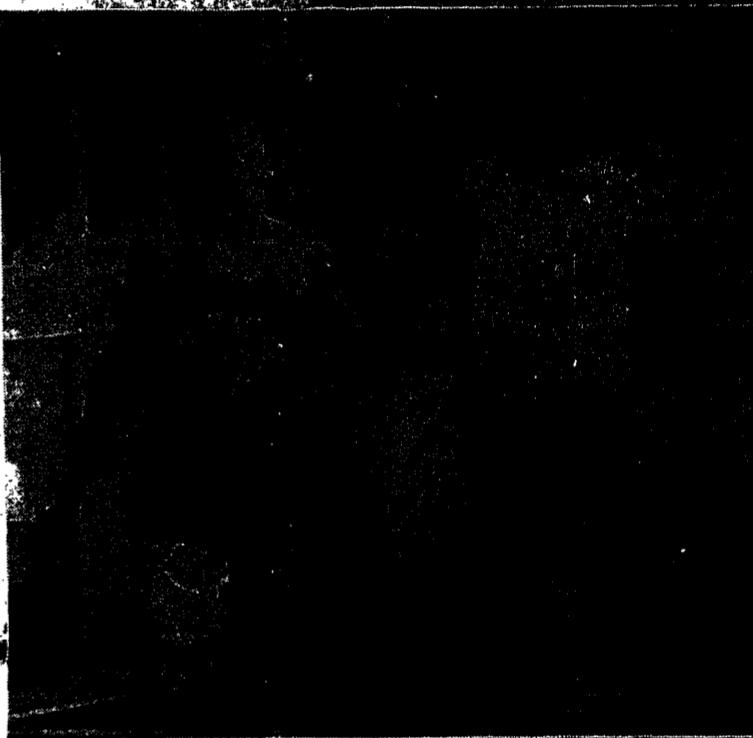

Other first place finishes went to Chris Reisch in the 100-yd. dash with a time of 53.8 seconds.

Mike Bates also finished in the top spot by winning the 1-mile run.

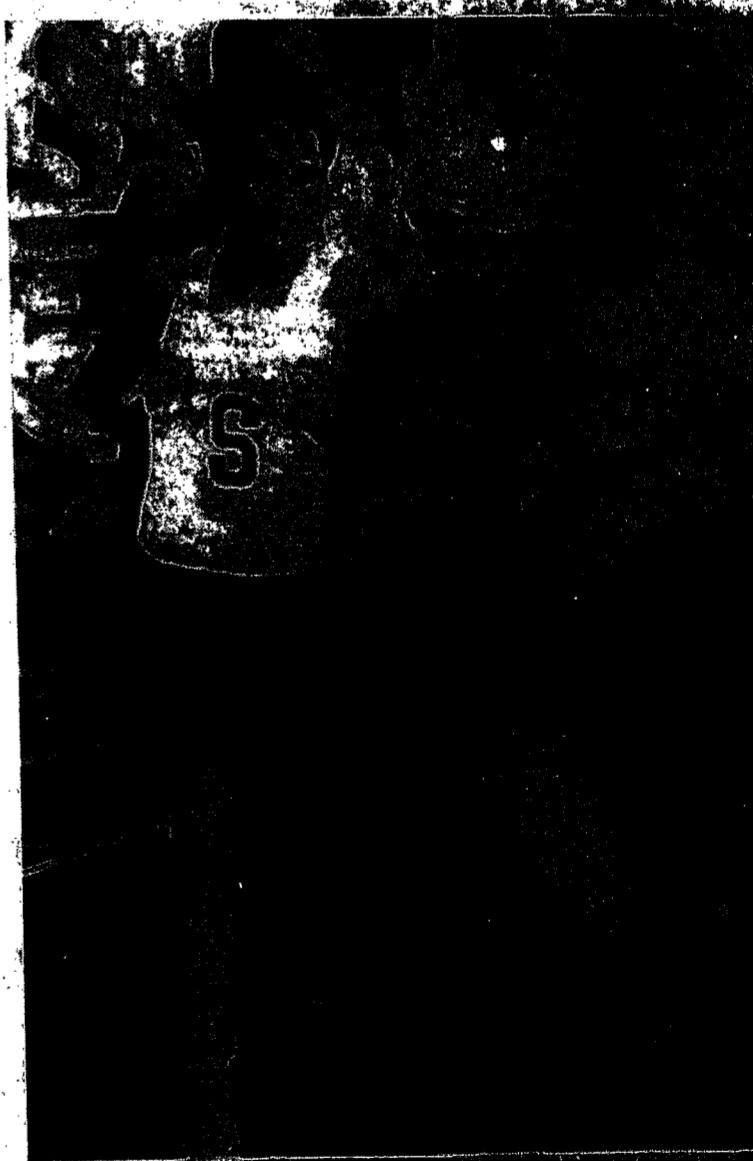

The junior high's next meet is Apr. 14 at home. The junior Rocks will then travel to St. Martin April 18 to compete in the District VIII-4A Junior High Track Meet.

Public Notices

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE CITY OF Waveland, Mississippi, HAS BEEN AUDITED BY THE ACCOUNTING FIRM OF MOORE & POWELL, CPAs, FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 1986.

THE AUDIT WAS CONDUCTED UNDER PROVISIONS OF THE MISSISSIPPI MUNICIPAL AUDIT AND ACCOUNTING GUIDE AS PRESCRIBED BY THE MISSISSIPPI AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS, AS REQUIRED BY STATE LAW. THE FOLLOWING IS PUBLISHED FOR CITIZENS' INFORMATION:

August 8, 1987

Honorable Mayor and Aldermen
City of Waveland, Mississippi
Waveland, Mississippi

We have examined the general purpose financial statements of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, and the combining, individual fund, and account group financial statements of the City as of and for the year ended September 30, 1986, as listed in the table of contents. Except as set forth in the following paragraphs, our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The City of Waveland does not maintain adequate subsidiary records documenting the existence and valuation of the assets included in the General Fixed Assets Account Group. In the absence of subsidiary records we are unable and do not express an opinion on the General Fixed Assets Account Group.

The City's Bond and Coupon Fund and State Loan Retirement Fund are debt service funds, financed by general tax revenues (see Schedule 10). Over the years, revenues not used for debt retirement have been loaned to other City funds and to its Utilities. We have not been able to satisfy ourselves as to the legality of these loans or to the existence of any contingencies which might exist in connection with these loans. The question of the legality of this type of loan has been referred to the City Attorney for resolution.

Due to weaknesses in internal controls over police department collections, it was not practicable to satisfy ourselves with respect to the reasonableness of the court fines and fees beyond the amounts recorded as received.

We were unable to obtain from the City's outside legal counsel a discussion or evaluation of pending or threatened litigation.

In our opinion, except for the effects of the matters discussed in the preceding paragraphs, the general purpose financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, at September 30, 1986, and the results of its operations and the changes in financial position of its proprietary fund types for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year. Also, in our opinion, the combining, individual fund, and account group financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of each of the individual funds and account groups of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, at September 30, 1986, and the results of operations of such funds and the changes in financial position of individual proprietary funds for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Our examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the general purpose financial statements taken as a whole and on the combining, individual fund, and individual account group financial statements. The accompanying financial information listed as other, supplemental information in the table of contents is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the financial statements of the City of Waveland, Mississippi. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the general purpose, combining, individual fund, and individual account group financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statements of each of the respective individual funds and account groups, taken as a whole.

THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1988-1C

How far does health care responsibility extend in schools?

BESTON, Va.—When it comes to birth control and AIDS, schools should be the teacher but not accept the responsibility of being doctor and pharmacist.

That's the advice of the chief executive officer of the nation's largest school administrator organization when it comes to school health clinics.

Educators should ask questions before agreeing to disperse condoms at health clinics—a proposal being discussed at an increasing number of schools, according to Scott Thomson, executive director, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NAASP).

"Considering the epidemic of student pregnancies and the threat of AIDS, it is not surprising that schools are being pressured to create more elaborate health clinics with a 'human sexuality' component," says Thomson.

"Or, to put it more bluntly, the push is on to require schools to dispense condoms along with counseling in some metropolitan areas."

Thomson points out that health clinics have existed in schools for 50 years, but when dental, vision, or health problems were identified in them, students were referred off-campus for help.

"On human sexuality, as well as on other affairs of mankind, education is the answer if ignorance is the problem," indicates Thomson. "Schools certainly have a responsibility to absolve ignorance where it exists."

"Sex education is not the issue here. Schools can accept the responsibility of making referrals. But should schools then take the next step? Should schools be physician and pharmacist as well as teacher? I seriously doubt the wisdom of crossing the line," he feels.

Thomson contends schools cannot solve all of society's problems and still have time to fulfill their primary function of academic preparation.

Before adding this task to health clinics, the NAASP CEO urged that schools ask whether city and county health departments are capable of dispensing birth control devices, whether family service, church, or volunteer groups would accept referrals, and whether such a step in schools would erode community support necessary for the school to achieve its other functions.

He also asked where this new role for health clinics would lead.

"Should schools provide certain direct health services to students and not other health services?" Thomson said. "Should we assist with preventing unwanted babies and not assist with abussed teeth? Do we dispense condoms and not eye glasses?"

TKE Fraternity

offers scholarships

HATTIESBURG—Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity at the University of Southern Mississippi is offering two scholarships through the USM Foundation.

The scholarships, to be awarded for the fall semester, will be made annually to incoming freshman males. One offers $500 while the second is $250.

To find out more or to apply for the scholarships, contact the fraternity at (601) 268-0519, or write Southern Station Box 0379, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406.

Donald F. Decker. Also present were Donna Wilson, executive director of the PRC Development Foundation; Danny Carter, Post 77 commander.

American Legion Post 77 donates $6,000 to PRC scholarship fund

Post 77 is the largest contributor to the PRC scholarship fund, having donated $74,000 since September, 1981.

The only stipulation placed by Post 77 on the distribution of the funds is that the students receiving the scholarships be from Hancock County.

The college determines all other qualifications and selects the recipients of the scholarships.

JAMES THRIFFILEY, left, accepts resolution from President Ted J. Alexander, on behalf of the Board of Trustees, for Thriffiley's outstanding service as board chairman from 1982 to January of this year. Right, JAMES ST. LOUIS EDUCATOR AND BUSINESSMAN, represents Hancock County on the PRC Board.

Spring Carnival

The Hancock North Central Student Council will sponsor a Spring Carnival on April 30 at the high school from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Come out and enjoy a day of fun; one that's filled with lots of good food and many types of activities," said Betty Allen, coordinator.

Activities include a dunking booth, a pie throw, a magic show, games for children and volleyball tournament.

Anyone interested should bring a team and compete for the championship. There will be a $6 entrance fee for a team or $1 per person fee.

Any business willing to donate prizes will be appreciated. Contact Allen at Hancock North Central for information, 255-7191.

All proceeds will go to the Rebecca Kennedy Fund, which underwrites a scholarship to one outstanding student attending Hancock North Central each year.

SPACE STATION—Diamondhead Academy students, some of whom are sixth and seventh graders, from the school's robotics team will participate in the first Student Space Station. The space station, sponsored by NASA, the State Department of Education and the Jackson Planetarium. During the pilot program this summer, the students will attend classes at Belhaven College and will visit the Johnson Space Center to meet with mission control specialists and participate in a simulated space flight.

USM Gifted Studies Program extends deadline

HATTIESBURG—The University of Southern Mississippi Center for Gifted Studies has extended the application deadline until further notice for two of its summer residential programs.

The Center still is accepting applications for the Summer Gifted Studies Program for intellectually gifted children now enrolled in grades 4-8 (sector June 12-June 24) and for the Leadership Studies Program for youth in grades 6-12, scheduled for June 26 through July 14.

For application forms or more information, contact Dr. Kenneth Warner, the USM Center for Gifted Studies, Southern Station Box 0379, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406, telephone (601) 264-2224.

Applications being accepted for de Montluzin scholarship

A second semester portion of an Emily de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship has been awarded to OLA graduate Georgiana Dagnall of Bay St. Louis. She earned an 'A' in French for the first semester and had an overall average of 3.47 at Mississippi State University.

Applications are being distributed to all area schools this week for the fifth annual foreign language scholarship to be awarded to a Hancock County graduating senior who has excelled for at least two years in the same foreign language course.

and who will continue study of the language during the freshman year in college.

Along with the application, the student must submit to the board of the scholarship fund a transcript of high school grades, two letters of recommendation—one from the foreign language teacher and one from either the principal, assistant principal or counselor.

For further information, interested students should consult their high school principal or guidance counselor.

Youths associate poison with drugs, cigarette smoke

When Slidell Memorial Hospital pharmacists asked Slidell day care students to name poisons they were familiar with, they were not surprised to hear "poison ivy." They were intrigued, however, when the three and four-year-olds identified cocaine, marijuana, and cigarette smoke as dangerous poisons.

"Pre-schoolers are very sophisticated today," said Kathy Chataignier, resource information pharmacist and one of three SMH pharmacists visiting approximately 700 area day care schools during "National Poison Prevention Week" Mar. 21-27.

"They seem to have a clear understanding about poisons. It looks like, overall, their teachers and parents are doing a good job educating them. We're just reinforcing that information."

SMH pharmacists have been "reinforcing" what children have been taught about the dangers of poisoning for three years through their support and promotion of "National Poison Prevention Week."

"Poison prevention has historically been supported by the pharmacy profession as one of their primary educational programs," said Bruce Clement, Director of Pharmacy at SMH. "Having sponsored poison prevention programs for three years, we're beginning to see some repeats. The information we provide—stickers promoting the Louisiana Regional Poison Center phone number (1-800-535-0525), brochures on poisonous plants, Ipecac Syrup, what to do if a poisoning occurs—reinforces what they've learned. If we are able to prevent just one accidental poisoning through the program, it will have been well worth the effort."

In addition to the 20-minute educational programs presented by Clement, Chataignier, and pharmacist Rebecca Galatas, the SMH pharmacy also sponsors a poison prevention poster contest. "We ask the school children to draw or paint a poster depicting what they remember most from the presentation to help reinforce major points," explained Clement.

The poison prevention program is directed primarily to three and four-year-olds because this is the group most likely to accidentally become poisoned, Clement pointed out. The youths are also asked to serve as poison prevention ambassadors, by relaying the poison prevention information to their families.

The following are some basic guidelines for poison proofing your home provided by "American Druggist," in their January, 1983 issue:

► Recommend that each household with small children, or where children visit, have a one-ounce bottle of syrup of ipecac for each child. It is important when dispensing this to emphasize that syrup of ipecac should never be used unless instructed to do so by a poison control center or physician.

► Dispense child resistant caps to all households that may have children or where children visit. If the person for whom the medication is for cannot open a child resistant cap, insist that extra care is taken in keeping it out of reach of children.

► Discourage families from leaving a dose of medication on the counter as a reminder to take it.

► Never refer to medicine as a candy, especially chewable multivitamins with iron.

► Clean out medicine cabinets. This is not only a dangerous place for children, but for adults too.

► Never store household cleaning products in reach of small children. Lock all products or store out of reach.

► Use safety locks if possible.

► Never transfer chemicals or cleaning substances from their original containers.

Chancellor Gerald Turner addressed the students, who were introduced to life at Ole Miss including campus tours. They attended workshops on financial aid and career opportunities and were entertained at social events.

TEEN TALK

Teens: Take Suicide Talk 'Dead' Serious'

By Dr. Ann Jarratt
4-H Youth Development Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

"What makes a teen think he or she has no reason to go on with life?"

Sometimes when people feel that they are victims of circumstances and have no control over their life, they become depressed and feel hopeless.

Also, when people give themselves negative messages, such as, "I'm no good," "Everything I touch turns sour," "Nobody cares about me;" "I'll always be a failure," they often begin to believe it. Once they start believing what they're telling themselves, they begin to act in ways that make it seem true. They look for and focus on anything negative that others say or do and use that as evidence that what they've been telling themselves is true.

Some people suffer from an illness called depression, which causes them to feel worthless and hopeless and out of control.

Those are a few of the "Whys." What's really important are the answers to "What can I do?"

- Talk about your feelings with someone you can trust.

- You do have control over many circumstances in your life. You control your thoughts. You control your decisions. You control your actions and reactions. Collect and evaluate information to make good decisions. Set goals and plan for success. Read, listen to you, and think about positive, uplifting things.

Learn from past mistakes, forgive yourself for them, and then put them aside forever.

- Never ... never put yourself down. You are not perfect, but you are absolutely worthwhile.

Spend time reading, watching and listening to things that are positive and build you up. Spend time with people who build you up.

- Practice looking for the best in people and events.

- If you are often deeply depressed, talk with your family physician or trained counselor. If you have high blood pressure, you would see a doctor to help you get the disease under control. Depression can also be treated.

- If a friend wants to take his or her life, how should you talk them out of it?

Let's get a common myth out of the way. It is not true that if a person talks about suicide he or she will not carry it out. What is fact is that if your friend is talking about suicide, it should be taken seriously. Seek professional advice. Many local communities have mental health clinics, crisis hot lines, and almost all have doctors and ministers who can advise you.

In case your friend starts talking with you about suicide plans before you have a chance to talk with one of the helpers above, a suicide prevention brochure prepared by the National Committee on Children and Youth recommends:

- Listen carefully to every word. Do not act horrified by what they tell you.
- When you talk, speak calmly and straightforwardly. Don't be afraid to ask, "Are you considering suicide?"
- Be firm ... but supportive.
- Take everything they say dead serious!
- Never tease, challenge or try to shock them out of their decision.
- Remind them that if they choose to die, the final act cannot be reversed.
- Whatever you do, get professional help immediately! You may be their last link with life.

Texas A&M alumni plan Biloxi Muster

Former Students of Texas A & M University will assemble in Biloxi Apr. 21 for the annual Texas Aggie Muster, announced chairman Tom Tuttle.

The Muster activities will begin at 6 p.m. in the Caribbean and Pacific Rooms of the Biloxi Hilton, according to the chairman.

Tuttle said the Muster is open to all former students and their families, parents of students and friends of Texas A & M.

Texas A & M is in its second century of greatness. During the last 100 years, Texas A & M has grown from a small Land Grant college to one of the leading research and educational institutions in the nation, Tuttle reports.

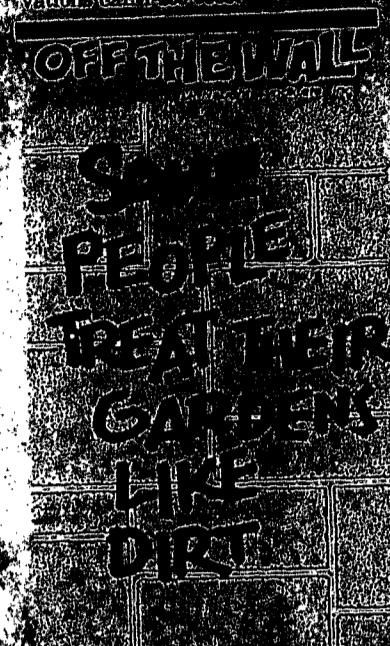

The Aggie Muster dates back to the mid-1900's and has been held annually since. More than 500 Musters will be held around the world this year, Tuttle said. Wherever Texas A & M former students live or work.

During wars, the Aggies mustered in foxholes, on the battlefield, aboard ships, in airplanes and in medical hospitals. In World War II, a Muster was held on Corregidor shortly before the Japanese captured the island.

Every Muster ceremony is the same. Tuttle said the Texas Aggies pay their respects to all those who are absent because of death, since the last Muster. When names of the honored dead are called, the Muster Roll, a friend of the deceased, answers, "Honor."

For further information and reservations call 601-467-4600.

Genealogy workshop slated April 16

HATTIESBURG—A genealogy workshop on "Preserving Historical Photographs" will be held at the University of Southern Mississippi April 16.

The workshop will be conducted by USM Director of Special Collections Terry S. Latour from 10 a.m. to noon in Room 203 of the McCain Library and Archives at USM. A $1 fee will be charged for materials.

"We're going to talk about preserving historical photos and how to properly store and care for them," Latour said. "We also will talk about matting, framing and the different photo processes used over the years."

Latour also said participants may bring old photographs such as the 1850-era daguerreotypes for evaluation.

Latour's is the last in a series of genealogy workshops sponsored during the spring semester by the McCain Library. Additional workshops are being planned for the fall semester.

For more information, write the USM McCain Library and Archives, Box 5148 Southern Station, Hattiesburg 39406-5148, or call (601) 507, or 268-4345.

Education begins at birth

By Dr. Roger Oge
Superintendent
Bay-Waveland Schools

Research indicates that intelligence, behavior, and ability to learn are greatly influenced by the kinds of situations and experiences children are exposed to during their first years of life.

Following are ideas for awakening children's senses and intellectual skills necessary to provide strong foundations for future learning:

1. Place bright shapes, colorful mobiles, and interesting pictures in children's rooms.

2. Speak with children often. Vary

Captain Kangaroo to host expression and tone of voice. Don't complain to children what they wanted and why. Encourage children to speak by surrounding them with talk, praising attempts to talk, and giving corrective feedback.

3. Listen intently to children. Babbling is early attempts at communication and should not be ignored. Remember to listen with your eyes as well as your ears.

4. Play appropriate music to children.

5. Sing to children and play nursery rhyme games with them.

6. Take children on short trips where they are exposed to different environments (zoo, museum, different work places). The more things children see or hear the more things they will want to experience.

7. Read to children. Beginning reading no later than the children are eight months of age.

8. Give children simple tasks to complete. This helps develop responsibility.

9. Provide educational toys, games, and other enrichment.

10. Encourage positive reinforcement and other encouragement. A child learns better under a democratic environment than a cold authoritarian one.

11. Hamilton should pursue a variety of interests and activities. This models enthusiasm for learning, doing, and the continual refinement of knowledge.

Children are most easily influenced by imitation. As such, parents are the first and most important teachers children have. Unless children receive adequate mental stimulation during the preschool years, the chance for their success in school will be significantly reduced.

Bay High seniors to unravel Lizzie Borden murder mystery

The time is the turn of the century. The place is Fall River, Mass. The subject is murder.

Thus the scene is set for one of the most gruesome and still unsolved murders in the history of our country, the axe murders of Andrew Borden and his wife Abby.

The Senior Class of Bay Senior High will re-enact this famous crime when the 1988 Senior Play, "Lizzie Borden," is presented Thursday at the Bay Junior High Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Andrew Borden was a banker, real estate mogul, lumber mill magnate and above all a miser. Yet, he loved his two daughters Lizzie and Emma dearly, and let them live a spartan yet comfortable life of the middle class in Fall River.

Abby Borden, Lizzie and Emma's stepmother was a money hungry stingy female who got along barely with Emma and hardly spoke to Lizzie unless to fight.

On a bright mid-morning under a blazing August sun, someone decided to end the lives of Andrew and Abby by Borden by brutally murdering them with an axe. But who did it—Lizzie, Emma, the hired girl whom Abby had fought with all that morning, a handy man, to whom Andrew owed money?

Lizzie was arrested and spent several months in jail while a grand jury decided whether to indict her. Because of a combination of events such as the women's suffrage movement, political and social pressures, and the social status of the Borden family, Lizzie was acquitted.

Yet many questions remain; why was vital evidence such as the purchase of poison omitted in the trial, why did grand jury transcripts disappear, and why were key testimony and critical witnesses never used in the trial?

Possible answers to these questions and a spine tingling re-enactment of the famous murder in Fall River will be presented by the Senior Class production of "Lizzie Borden" April 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Junior High Auditorium. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

PRC's 1923 President's House declared historic landmark

POPLARVILLE—The Pearl River College president's house, which was built in 1923, has been designated as a "Mississippi Landmark."

Dr. Ted J. Alexander, president of Pearl River College, informed the PRC Board of the distinction during the regular March meeting here Tuesday on campus.

"Architecturally unpretentious, this building is nevertheless significant as the first built and oldest president's house in the junior college system of Mississippi," said Michael F. Beard, review and compliance-assistant of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

Beard said the modest brick house shows some Craftsman style influence, including the nine over one window and the detailing of the car port and porch.

"Its very simplicity lends it importance in the socio-cultural history of the state," said Beard.

The Mississippi junior college concept began on the afternoon of Sept. 20th, 1920, when the Board of Trustees at Pearl River authorized the addition of freshman college week beginning with the 1921-22 session. Pearl River became the first junior college in the state to offer college credit.

Dr. Alexander and his family are living in the 1923 house, however, a new president's house is under construction.

The new Mississippi landmark will be used for alumni affairs, research administration and the development foundation.

In other action the PRC Board:

► reviewed the proposed policy on public participation at board meetings.

► Commended David Whisnant, Morrison's cafeteria manager, for his participation in raising money for the renovations on the Wildcat baseball field.

► Heard a report by President Alexander on the Mississippi Junior College Association's authorization of baseball scholarships for next year.

► Drafted a letter of support to Mrs. Bettye Applewhite, a member of the State Board for Community and Junior Colleges, from Poplarville for her support of the JMCA legislative recommendations and the concept of local control by the individual junior colleges.

► Approved progress payment number 3 to Maples Construction Company for the new president's house in the amount of $34,210.84 and to architect Fred Wagner, in the amount of $588.

► Approved progress payment number 5 to United Roofing in the amount of $24,477.30 and to Wagner in the amount of $490.

► Gave President Alexander the authority to accept the lowest and best bid for the campus parking lots, streets and curving improvements.

► Approved a 30-day extension to United Roofing on the re-roofing project, in order for United Roofing to complete work on the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center roof.

► Approved payment to United Roofing in the amount of $34,090.20 and Wagner in the amount of $597 and $2100 for work on the Hancock County Vo-Tech Emergency roofing project.

► Accepted the certified staff personnel recommendations for the '88-'89 school year.

► Approved the February claim docket for $477,775.34.

► Accepted the lowest and best bids for diesel fuel and building materials at the Poplarville campus.

► Endorsed PRC Student Reuben McDowell's candidacy for National Phi Theta Kappa president.

► Recommended the PRC Building Committee for its time and effort spent on the construction of the president's house.

► Endorsed the Development Foundation's Auction-Food Festival scheduled for June 5th.

GCRL Summer courses listed

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs has announced its 1988 summer marine science course schedule.

Courses to be offered during the first term include Marine Invertebrate Zoology, Marine Botany, Marine Ecology, Early Life History of Marine Fishes, Marine Fisheries Management, and Oceanography I: Physical, Chemical and Geological.

Second term courses include Marine Vertebrate Zoology and Ichthyology, Coastal Marine Geology, Fauna and Faunistic Ecology of Tidal Marshes, Microbiology of Seafoods and Seafood Processing, and Oceanography II: Marine Biology.

Courses offered by special arrangement include Comparative Histology of Marine Organisms, Carcinology, Special Problems in Marine Science and Special Topics in Marine Science.

GCRL is affiliated with 59 colleges and universities in Mississippi and 15 other states, and earned credit is transferred to the student's home campus. Courses are open to all qualified graduate and undergraduate students who wish to broaden their academic training and build on the knowledge they have already gained in basic science courses.

All courses except Oceanography I and II require junior standing or above.

Students may earn up to 12 semester hours credit during the summer session, but are enrolled in only one course at a time so that they can devote their full energy to the course.

Field studies are an integral and required part of all coursework at the Laboratory, so students have a unique opportunity to observe animals and plants in their natural habitats. Students have the added advantage of studying under instructors with extensive field knowledge and skills as well as laboratory and classroom experience.

For additional information about class dates, prerequisites, course descriptions and applications, contact Dr. David W. Cook, registrar, Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, P.O. Box 7000, Ocean Springs, MS 39564 or call 872-4201.
